

Call for LIFE/ART
A Documentary
April 13, 2011 – January 31, 2012

When you see or hear the words/concepts below, what are the first things/images that come to your mind? What would you want to communicate first about them to the world? That is what we want you to send us. Please send us:

- 30 seconds max of audio, format WAV
- 1 minute max of video, format MPEG4
- 1 scanned old or new digital family photo, 300 dpi, jpg format only

... as many as you want per category, in a rolling submission deadline, kind of as you create them. Please be sure to include folks who are less technologically proficient than you are in this project, as otherwise their voices would not be included. The final deadline is January 31, 2012. You should think carefully of what you would like to record, maybe write your thoughts down first, edit, practice then record. Or, not. Totally up to you. It's your world. Let's say you go to Easter with your family or go on vacation with your friends and capture something on the I Phone that you feel is worthy, drop it to disk and mail it to:

It is our goal to write a grant to create a fabulous movie out of all of this, showing how folks have different associations with all of these words, but how we all share common threads of meaning for life at the same time. That's the concept, to debut in 2013-14.
